

THE FALSTAFF FIELD GUIDE TO CURIOUS CREATURES
& COCKTAILS

INTRODUCTION

Contained in these pages are some of the most fabulous creatures we have found throughout the voyages of our agents up until this fair year of 1845 and some of the most well-functioning cock-tails to be enjoyed by the Bon Vivant on his expeditions.

It is by no means an exhaustive catalogue of creatures discovered by our officers, merely a selection of some of our favourites to be highlighted.

The Department of Cryptozoology & Cocktology has taken all possible care and consideration in the production of this travel guide and brochure to represent the facts and truths of these creatures contained herein.

The Department of Cryptozoology & Cocktology has also duly undertaken the task of pairing some cutting-edge libations to each of the listed animals that we believe to only enhance the search and discovery of such 'curious' creatures.

SEA BISHOP

Hayman's Small Gin, Briottet Blue Curaçao, Solerno Blood Orange Liqueur, Citrus Acids, Grapefruit and Cinnamon syrup.

FIELD NOTES

First reported in the Baltic Sea in 1531. Apparently a practicing Catholic. Webbed feet make this creature a fantastic swimmer. Looks like he'd probably be a good guy to chat to.

FIELD NOTES

Breathes fire and kills its victims with a glance. Also very elegant looking. A long favourite of renaissance poets. You can probably tell by the way he uses his walk, that he's a ladies man, no time to talk.

SPHINX

Tapatio Blanco Tequila, Cocchi Rosa Aromatised Wine, Briottet Passionfruit Liqueur, Lemon, Passionfruit Syrup, Prosecco and Soda Water.

FIELD NOTES

The head of a human, body of a lion and the wings of angels. Its super power is riddles; riddles that kill you if you can't answer them. The Sphinx was sent, by Hera or Ares, from her Ethiopian homeland to guard the Greek city of Thebes.

FIELD NOTES

Halfhuman, halfbird personification of storm winds. They were either beautiful or super ugly. Angels of punishment who apparently stole food or people. The hounds of Zeus apparently reside in a cave in Crete.

IDEAL-ZEBRA

Silent Pool Gin, St Germain Elderflower Liqueur, Lemon, Prosecco Syrup, Prosecco.

FIELD NOTES

The greatest attribute of the Ideal-Zebra has to be his impeccable fashion sense, unfortunately he is scared of elephants and camels in times of battle. Runs very fast, not very stealthy, definitely stands out in a crowd.

A firebreathing, goatlion hybrid. He occasionally had a tail that ended in a snake's head. Probably originates in Turkey, said to ravage the land with his firebreath. Not good against arrows.

Clairin Communal Agricole Rum, Briottet Blackcurrant Liqueur, Rioja, Lime, Brown Sugar.

FIELD NOTES

A seagoat, intelligent and honourable. Able to speak and think, however he will turn in to a regular goat and lose his speech and thought once reaching dry land. Certainly a strong swimmer, not at all special on dry land.

FIELD NOTES

Reported caught in the 1540's near the coast of Denmark. Very little is known about this chap, so we will speculate that he probably spoke very little and maybe brewing beer was his super power?
